To whom it may concern:

I do not appreciate the FCC or NAB's efforts to control my XM radio. I sold radio advertising for several years and Radio stations are guided by the dollar, so the quality of programs and information is guided by rating and popularity. I pay for my broadcast up front and as part of that I should be able to receive what ever XM deems appropriate as part of that service. In addition, I am an outside sales rep. I drive 1100 miles a week and spend time in several different locations. It is much safer for me to know the weather in areas I could be traveling before I get there If i can dial into them with the XM.
